OPPORTUNITIES IN OUR NEW MARKET STRATEGY AND PLANNING TEAM

On the one side, we've got marketing. On the other, we've got sales. But right in the middle and influencing both, we've got you. As a key member of our all-new Market Strategy and Planning team, you'll be at the heart of our business, translating brand objectives into commercial performance. You'll be responsible, through ownership of core business processes, for ensuring that the business delivers against its targets.

It's a unique role and a real opportunity to expand your horizons. You'll be shaping the future and direction of the UK's number-one food manufacturing company.

It won't be an easy ride — all eyes will be upon you and we'll be expecting great things. But if you're a senior sales professional with plenty of national account experience, solid commercial skills and a strong strategic focus, this could be your next big thing.

For a confidential conversation, contact Adam Gleason or David Jenkins at Quest Search & Selection on 020 8222 0555. Alternatively email your CV and covering letter to premierfoods@questsearch.co.uk

All third party applications will be forwarded to our retained consultants: Quest Search and Selection.
