

So many properties, so much to do...

Excellent packages based at Welwyn Garden City, Hertfordshire.

Add up all our stores across the UK alone, and you'll notice we're close to hitting the 2,000 mark. That's a lot of shopping - and a lot of property too. We're a world class retailer, and we've a property portfolio to match.

Here In Property, our job is to design, build, manage and maintain all those assets. Tesco sites and stores come in all shapes and sizes. The work of planning, building, refitting and extending them can be demanding. But challenge on this scale means we can offer some of the most exciting retail-based property careers around.

In everything we do, we look to put our customers first. So first and foremost, our stores aren't for us - they're for our customers.

Where do you fit in?

Construction Managers

You will be managing the development and delivery of new stores, ensuring completion within development budget and program timescales.

Engineering Manager - Lighting

You will be accountable for delivering the strategy and policy for lighting design within the business, providing lighting and design support to all areas of the business.

Value Manager

You will be responsible for making our capital more productive by reducing our build costs; you will be fully accountable for store specific budgets.

Contract Manager

You will manage the service delivery of external contractors - catering, cleaning, maintenance, archiving and security covering the Hertfordshire campus of buildings.

Property Manager

A key position has arisen for Chartered Surveyor to undertake professional work in relation to the extensive real estate.

You will be responsible for implementation of the rent review strategy in respect of the retail estate.

Planning Manager

We are looking for a senior Architect Technician to lead a team of external consultants in the design of all new stores and extensions across the UK. You will be responsible for the external design of schemes from inception to completion.

With all these positions we are looking for high calibre candidates who are motivated, self driven and can work autonomously. Above all you will be ambitious with a proven track record of success where your hard work will be rewarded with exceptional personal and career development. If you feel you have what it takes, please forward your CV and covering letter to: tescoproperty@questsearch.co.uk or alternatively call James Hewson at Quest on 0161 8359669 for a confidential discussion.
