South East, £23,000 - £27,000 + Benefits

Unilever Bestfoods is part of one of the largest consumer goods businesses in the world. From the largest city, to the most remote village you will find products that have made Unilever the success that they are today. Household names such as Flora, Dove, Calvin Klein, Vaseline, Pond's, I Can't Believe it's Not Butter are just a few of the brand names that comprise the famous Unilever portfolio.

Due to the growing demands of the business this exciting opportunity has arisen. As a key member of the supply chain team your background will be between 2 and 5 years and will have ideally been gained in planning or forecasting within a similar blue chip environment.

You will take responsibility for a family of products through the whole of the supply chain, satisfying forecast demand at optimum cost whilst ensuring stock is available for distribution. Communication skills are essential as you will be working and developing close relationships with all your contacts along the supply chain.

Customer Service experience is also key in this role where you will be responsible for inter-company customers. You will have to balance many conflicting demands to satisfy customers in the short-term, working closely with your manufacturing & distribution teams.

In addition to this you should have a good working knowledge of SAP and ideally fluency in French.
